Reagan proposes student aid budget

President Reagan's proposed changes to the Federal student financial assistance programs sponsored by the Department of Education are currently being considered by Congress. The Department of Education has provided the following explanation to inform students across the nation of the nature of the Reagan Administration's proposals for the 1984 student aid budget.

Chart A compares the 1983 student aid budget with the Reagan Administration's proposed budget for 1984. Because over one billion dollars has been saved as a result of declining interest rates, the total funding proposed for 1984 is level with 1983. The difference in the two budgets is in the placement of dollars. The proposal is to consolidate the current six programs into one loan, one work-study, and one grant.

The key principle behind this proposal is that a simplified and consolidated student aid program will benefit both the student and the American taxpayer financing the student aid programs. Simplification will also dramatically reduce the administrative burden which institutions now face in administering the six Federal aid programs. Reducing this burden will improve institutions ability to deliver student aid.

Congress has been requested not to provide new funding for the State Student Incentive Program (SSIG), the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program (SEOG), and the National Direct Student Loan Program (NDSL). Congress has been asked to increase funding for College Work-Study (CWS) and Pell Grants. Under the new budget a higher loan volume and a higher loan average for the Guaranteed Student Loan Program (GSL) are expected.

Chart B compares the total amount of aid available to students through the Department of Education under the 1983 and proposed 1984 budgets.

SSIG was established in 1972 in order to provide states an incentive to establish their own grant and scholarship programs. Currently all states have met this challenge and offer very attractive scholarship and grant programs. Known under a variety of different names, these state programs awarded over one billion dollars last year. Thus, after 11 years, the incentive provided by the SSIG program has successfully generated more dollars than the Federal government could possibly have hoped.

SEOG was designed to supplement the Pell Grant. Administered by the financial aid office on the campus, the program was to provide students with the financial means necessary to have some choice in which institution to attend. The problem with SEOG is that it is now targeted to help those students who really need federal assistance. If the budget is accepted by the Congress, the new Self-help Grant program will provide needy students with the choice previously reserved for the privileged.

Begun in 1958, NDSL is the oldest of the Federal student assistance programs. Over the past 25 years the Federal government has given schools participating in the program over 12 billion dollars to establish revolving loan funds on the campus. The loan fund is for the use of current and future students. Though no new money is requested for the NDSL program, the revolving funds mean that over 550 million dollars will continue to be available to students in 1984. The amount of money available in future years depends on students meeting their repayment obligations and thereby keeping the revolving funds healthy. If former students, now in default, repay their loans, over 640 million dollars could be added to the revolving funds.

The three remaining programs: College Work-Study, Pell Grant and the Guaranteed Student Loan Program (GSL) will ensure the type of student financial assistance hoped for, but never realized, under the six program arrangement.

The GSL and Auxiliary Loan (PLUS) programs make low interest loans available to eligible graduate and undergraduate students as well as parents by paying lenders interest while the student is in school and by subsidizing interest while the borrower is paying off the loan. The combined program is the largest of the Federal financial aid program programs.

The budget sent to Congress requests $2.04 billion to cover the costs of the GSL program in 1984. It also includes a rescission of $900 million for 1983 funding. The $2.04 billion represents a decrease from the 1982 GSL appropriation of almost one billion dollars. The proposed reduction does not represent a reduced commitment to the GSL program. On the contrary, because President Reagan's Economic Recovery Program has successfully reduced interest rates, the actual cost of the program is steadily decreasing. Although the program will cost one billion dollars less than in 1982, one billion dollars more will be available to student borrowers.

About 2.64 million students and parents received GSL and PLUS loans in 1982. The average loan was $2,222. Under President Reagan's 1984 budget the average loan is expected to be $2,454. The number of recipients will increase almost 300,000. Improved economic conditions will let all of this happen with one billion dollars less of the taxpayers' money.

In 1984, changes to the current law governing the GSL program are being proposed. It is estimated that these changes alone will save $126.9 million in 1984 and $204.7 million in 1985. Currently students who wish to borrow under the GSL program do not have to demonstrate financial need if their family income is under $30,000. (The requirement

Christian Holiness Association visits Olivet

Dr. Ponder Gilliland to speak at the Christian Holiness Association Convention.

By Beth Truesdale

On April 19-21, Olivet will be hosting the 115th Christian Holiness Association (CHA) convention. Attendance is expected to be over 1500.

The convention brings together denominational administrators, college and seminary personnel, pastors, and lay persons. The purpose is to provide fellowship, inspiration and instruction and to unite the voice of the holiness movement and to develop cooperative ministries among the holiness denominations and organizations.

Students may register for only $5 in order to attend all of the activities. The 9 a.m. "Bible Exposition Hour" held every morning and the evening rallies may be attended free. There will be no chapel services throughout the week to encourage student attendance.

Keynote speakers are Dr. Dennis F. Kinlaw, professor at Asbury Theological Seminary, Dr. Ponder Gilliland, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, Bethany, OK, and Dr. John M. Snook, president of Bartlesville Wesleyan College.

Seven seminars will be taught on Wednesday and Thursday, and are as follows: "Programming Church Growth through the Sunday School," "Eleven Steps to Develop a Growing Church," "The Call to Compassion from the Inner City," "Discovering the Soul of Prayer and Praise," "Biblical Preaching: A Basis for Growth," "The Holiness Message and Liberation Theology," and "Biblical Preaching that Meets People Where They Are." Video tapes of "Reexamining Life in the Spirit" will be shown continuously in the Formal Lounge throughout the convention, beginning at 11 a.m. Tuesday and ending at 11 p.m. Thursday.

The CHA represents over three million people in North America and five million around the world.

The Christian Holiness Association was founded in 1867 as the National Camp Meeting Association for the Promotion of Holiness.

Johnson Space Center, Texas - Shuttle Astronauts Story Musgrave and Don Peterson tested their $2.1 million space suits while walking in space for 3 hours, 5 minutes last Thursday. It was the first space walk since the last Skylab mission in 1974, making Musgrave and Peterson the 28th and 29th Americans to walk in space.

Washington - Last Thursday, Republican-dominated Senate Budget Committee cut in half President Reagan's proposed boost in military spending by approving a 5 percent hike. The committee voted for a compromise that calls for $267 billion in defense spending next year and $1.68 trillion in total military spending over the next five years.

that need be demonstrated for students whose family income is over $30,000 was, in fact, implemented only last year.) The 1984 budget proposes extending the "needs test" to all income levels. Factors such as cost of tuition, expected family contribution, number of children in school, etc. will continue to figure into the needs formula. This proposed change is consistent with the Reagan Administration's belief that Federal aid should be reserved for those students who need the assistance in order to attend college.

President Reagan's budget requests an additional $310 million in funds for the College Work-Study Program. Increases in CWS support the view that a student and his or her family share the primary responsibility for financing a college education. If adopted by the Congress, President Reagan's increase will create jobs for an additional 345,000 students. The average student's earnings would be $800. The CWS program is administered and managed on the college campus.

The Federal government contribution to the work-study payroll is 80%. Increasing the CWS program by 60% is hoped to reduce the now face when they have relied too heavily on loans to finance their college costs.

The most sweeping changes President Reagan has proposed are those effecting the Pell Grant Program. Driving the changes is an interest in assuring equity and ensuring access and choice. The proposal also restores to the student some responsibility for securing college costs.

Under the proposed Self-Help (Pell) Grant Program, students must meet a minimum expected student contribution before being eligible for a grant. The contribution would be a minimum of 40 percent of the cost of attendance - with an absolute dollar minimum of $800. A student may meet his expected contribution from a variety of sources, including the Federal loan and work-study programs described above, state grant and scholarship funds and private sources.

The student contribution can be met by an almost infinite combination of sources, including all of the Federal aid programs except the Self-help grant itself.

President Reagan's proposal suggests that cost of attendance should figure prominently in the calculation of a student's Self-help grant. A student attending a community college and living at home obviously has less cost than a student attending a $7,500 institution in a different town or state. The "cost-sensitivity" of the Self-help Grant Program should ensure that needy students have a greater choice in selection of an institution to attend. While the maximum Pell Grant is $1,800, a student who attends a high cost institution and has a small expected family contribution could receive a $3,000 Self-help Grant.

The equity issue is one that has long been wrestled with in the delivery of Federal grant programs. Many students are awarded more money than they actually need while many more do not receive enough to meet their college costs. This situation has resulted in large part because of the complexity of the Pell Grant Program eligibility criteria.

To address this problem, the new Self-help Grant program proposes, for example, reducing from 22 to 5 the number of factors used to determine a family's ability to contribute. Changes such as this will go far toward establishing this will go far toward reestablishing the original intent of the grant program - that of providing access to higher education for those who would not be able to attend college without assistance. The new Self-help Grant is designed to build on that original purpose by giving needy students choice in addition to access.

This Administration's strong commitment to education demands that steps are taken to improve student aid delivery. By consolidating the programs to simplify management and by requiring a student contribution to higher education costs before grant aid is provided, the integrity of Federal student assistance programs can be maintained.

Simplifying the system and maintaining integrity are the only ways to ensure that the programs will be available to future generations of students.

International Newsbriefs

China - Last week China canceled its cultural and sports exchanges scheduled with the U.S. for the rest of 1983. The cancellation is in protest of the U.S. granting political asylum to Chinese tennis star, Hu Na, and the United States insistence on selling arms to Taiwan.

For the Chinese, the greatest loss of the cancellation may be the "Film Week" when the Chinese audiences were to have viewed such American films as On Golden Pond, Kramer vs. Kramer, Star Wars, Coal Miner's Daughter, and Turning Point. The Americans lost the chance to see Chinese athletes compete at the Olympic Trials.

Bangkok - The U.S. promised last Thursday to speed up arms shipments to Thailand to counter a threat posed by Vietnamese troops in Cambodia. This was assured after U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Paul Wolfowitz met with Thai Prime Minister, Gen Prem Tinsulanonda after a tour of the Thai-Cambodian frontier.

Kuwait - Persian Gulf nations threatened by a large oil slick succeeded last week in bringing Iran and Iraq to an environmental crises meeting. The nations' representatives pleaded for a ceasefire to allow repairs on two Iranian wells feeding the slick to be made. No progress was reported.

ASSOCIATED STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRESIDENT

Monty Lobb

PLATFORM:

Sensitivity and experience. These are the two adjectives which portray the leadership qualities of Monty Lobb, but more importantly, the primary reasons why you want to vote for me as ASG President.

Establishing a degree of sensitivity and experience has certainly not been an overnight process. Only through hours of talking with students, committee and council meetings, and time spent formulating student activities is qualified to say that he knows the 'heartbeat' of this or any campus.

My greatest concern is that a rapport is established and built on between student council and the student body. To accomplish this, students must have a basis for trusting and depending on their student leaders. This rapport will only be established if there are those who understand the mood of student sentiment.

Two years as a class president qualifies me to make these remarks. I have had my successes and I have made my mistakes. I have felt the pressure of turning out enjoyable and entertaining events. I have known what it is like to take criticism. I know what it is like to act as an intermediary on behalf of a student's idea.

These and other situations have created a sensitivity which takes into account the thoughts of all students, the goals of a council, and the wishes of an administration.

As ASG President, I have a few objectives which I feel would make for a good year.

I am not out to promote radical change, but to simply promote improvement where improvement is needed.

Second, I would like to see ASG take a more active role in sponsoring events on campus, such as concerts and lecture series. This is a tool of evangelism which has proven itself to be effective among students.

Third, I want every student to realize ASG is not a small social club or mediator between student and administration, but is a channel to upgrade student welfare. I want student council to be known for its proficiency rather than its bureaucracy.

An opportunity to lead could make the difference in how you view the student government process here at Olivet.

The ASG President should not be just the person who presides over the student council meetings. He should be someone who is open and accessible to students. He must have definite plans, definite goals, a positive attitude and a determination that leads to attainment of these goals through the proper channels. I believe I have these qualifications, I have the time, and I am willing to serve you.

Building on the foundation established by Phil Kizzee and his student council, I would like to see issues dealt with quickly and completely. As President, I will follow through the special committees to make sure that they are acted upon properly. As the leader of student council I will challenge members to bring those issues which are of major concern to the students. I will also be available for student input and dialogue, for I have the time to devote to students. I have completed my Chemistry major. I have the extra time to spend for you.

My primary goal for next year is that I may further improve the lines of communication between student council and the student body. This year I initiated the student council survey administered in Chapel and the suggestion box located in Ludwig Center. As President I will again utilize these tools as well as The Glimmerglass and other tools to promote a consistent and available means of communication.

I want student council's projects to be your ideas. As needs arise, they should be met. I want to serve you. I don't want to play political games. I will give you my best.

I want student council to work for you.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF SPIRITUAL LIFE

Les Parrott III

NAME: Les Parrott III
OFFICE: Vice-President of Spiritual Life
CLASSIFICATION: Junior
MAJOR: Psychology/Religion
HOMETOWN: Kankakee, IL
G.P.A.: 3.8

PLATFORM:

It seems to me that Spiritual Life is an ongoing matter of religious concern on the campus of Olivet. As I realized that I have nearly completed this year as Vice-President, it began to dawn on me that the spiritual concern of student life could be better served by continuity.

Others may be able to do as well as I in leading Spiritual Life, but it seems that there is much to be gained by a second term in office. We have all learned a great deal together and next year could begin on the platform laid this year, without unnecessary time of transition, learning the job and reorganizing.

Our momentum is already up and I hope we can begin next fall with a bigger and better Spiritual Life program. I do not plan to make any radical changes, but want to improve on what we have already learned to do.

Prayer Band: Making these services helpful in a practical way will again be a chief goal. By incorporating each branch of Spiritual Life into our services, Prayer Band has only begun to be the very center of what we are.

Resident Halls: Of course, better planning and more specific guidance for class and floor chaplains can have important results in the places we live.

Spiritual Life Journals: Through making a small organized notebook available this year, students had the opportunity to record sermon notes, prayer lists, personal experiences and Bible verses. This year's council voted to continue this ministry and are in the process of producing them as well as refills, for next fall.

Outreach Teams: As Christians, we are challenged to proclaim the Good News. With improved training, organization, and more unity, we can produce the quality most students expect.

Spiritual Life is the students of Olivet and our heritage of Christian faith. I will give all I have to see Olivet continue the holiness ideals which have attracted most of us to come to Olivet in the first place.

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Vice-President of Spiritual Life 1982-1983
2. Outstanding Young Men of America Award
3. Headmaster's Award from Barstow Academy
4. National Honor Society
5. Director of Fellowship of Christian Athletes 2 years
6. Licensed minister

NAME: John E. Thompson, Jr.
OFFICE: Vice-President of Spiritual Life
CLASSIFICATION: Junior
MAJOR: Religion
HOMETOWN: Kankakee, IL
G.P.A.: 2.3

GOAL:

To involve and affect the whole campus with the ministries of Spiritual Life and to have a positive impact on the surrounding communities with the ministries of Spiritual Life.

PLATFORM:

The foundation of this platform is built upon the Bible. All that will be done through Spiritual Life is based and condoned in the Word of God. With this in mind the office will have scriptural themes around which all of its ministries will revolve. With Christ as the model, I choose His words from Matthew 20: 27-28; "And whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant; even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

Keeping the idea of service in mind the functions of the on-campus ministries will be upgraded.

FLOOR CHAPLAINS:

will be responsible to maintain devotions throughout the entire school year.

CLASS CHAPLAINS:

will have their duties increased. They will be responsible for their class council devotions. They will also have the responsibility of helping maintain floor devotions.

PRAYER BAND:

In addition to the regular Prayer Band services, there will be revival services Friday and Saturday nights once a month.

LIFE EMPHASIS WEEK:

Ministerial students will preach in Chapel

OFF CAMPUS MINISTRIES:

will be upgraded by dedicated recruitment and service and by maximized outings. An on-campus witnessing ministry will exist for those who wish to witness to fellow students. An off campus witnessing ministry will consist of street ministries in downtown Kankakee.

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Liscenced minister in the Baptist Church
2. Associate Minister at The Greater Mt. Sinai Missionary Baptist Church
3. Sunday School Teacher
4. Bible Class Director
5. Assistant Choir Director

My greatest asset is my dedication to my ministry. My personal growth and experience in the ministry will aid me in the office of Vice-President of Spiritual Life and the experiences of a term in the office will aid my ministry. These consequences can only come from complete dedication to the office, the students, faculty, staff and God.

OFFICE: Vice President of Social Affairs
CLASSIFICATION: Sophomore
MAJOR: Fashion Merchandising
HOMETOWN: Plymouth, MI

PLATFORM:

These should be the best years of our lives - full of fun, excitement and good Christian fellowship. We at Olivet need a leader to see these things carried out. That is why I, Beth Davis, am running for Vice-President of Social Affairs.

This job requires time, effort, creativity, a full commitment, and someone who cares. It requires someone who understands the needs of the students and who wants to see quality activities take place. I feel that I am qualified for this job.

I am presently on the Social Committee, and have held this position for the past year. I know how things are done. It's fun, challenging and very rewarding. But the rewards only come through much hard work, and it is not always glamorous.

I have had an inside view of how all the activities are organized and put together. Committee members are used and their input is very important.

We have had a good year and I plan to continue that momentum.

How? By having a quality change - a change that will interest many. I am creative, organized, ambitious, motivated and, most of all, dedicated. The quality change starts with me. I am willing to give this position my all and do my very best.

Filling the position of Vice-President in charge of Social Affairs is going to take a person who is able to know the needs of the students and act on them accordingly. Providing interesting activities does not involve just bringing up new ideas, but also involves cultivating old ideas and creating involvement with the current agenda. I believe I could be the person to fill this position.

Having served on council for four years in high school and acting as Junior Class Vice-President at Olivet, I am very familiar with student government procedures. I have accepted many leadership responsibilities in athletics, music and church work.

During the summer of 1982 I served as Youth Pastor at Brooksville Church of the Nazarene in Brooksville, Florida.

Being a person with a creative mind and filled with enthusiasm would enable me to assist, through social affairs, in making the '83-'84 school year a year that we can be proud of for years to come.

I am very interested in the social events that take place on campus and would like to serve as Vice-President in charge of Social Affairs.

MAJOR: Marketing/Communications
HOMETOWN: East Alton, IL
G.P.A.: 3.1

PLATFORM:

Aurora Editor. Such a huge responsibility, largely because thirty years from now the Aurora will be our only tangible remembrance of life at Olivet. Our book should be timeless so that three decades seem like only one. Our book should be creative to display the vitality of college life. Most of all, our book should be representative of each of us and our lives at Olivet.

It would take a responsible, innovative and articulate person to produce our book. Fortunately, we are given the opportunity to elect such a person. I, Mike Malone, am qualified and anxious to serve as your Aurora Editor. I am qualified to serve in this post because of the following reasons.

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Mike Malone is experienced.

Eight years yearbook experience, including Editor-in-chief of two high school yearbooks.

Experience in designing layout, copy-writing and editorial decision-making.

2. Mike Malone is committed.

He has been a committed member of his class council, Social Committee, MRA, and on several ONC dramatic presentations.

3. Mike Malone is a leader.

The Aurora Editor must be able to coordinate his staff and produce a unified book. Mike Malone is capable of achieving the goals of the Aurora Editor.

Elect Mike Malone for Aurora Editor and I guarantee you that thirty years from now you will be glad you did.

TREASURER

Dave Horton

NAME: Dave Horton
OFFICE: Treasurer
CLASSIFICATION: Junior
MAJOR: Accounting
HOMETOWN: Port Huron, MI
G.P.A.: 3.42

PLATFORM:

The office of ASG Treasurer involves interaction between the treasurer and the organization treasurers. In order for this interaction to take place, the treasurer has to be available and willing to assist in problems that occur. Office hours are an important part of this interaction. I will establish set office hours. I will meet with the treasurers at least once a semester to establish policies and general guidelines and strengthen our lines of communication.

The office of ASG Treasurer also involves the guiding of student council in their spending, the preparation of financial statements, and the dispersing of payments for student council and all other organizations. It is necessary to serve on financial committees and to look for the best possible way to make the council's money work for them.

I feel the treasurer is a vital part of the total student council organization. Since student council is designed to represent the student body, the treasurer must be a representative of the total body and must be willing to get involved in all the activities that encompass student government.

QUALIFICATIONS:

I am a junior accounting major and have completed the majority of my required courses. I have already gained an adequate amount of knowledge and skill in the accounting field to perform the job of treasurer satisfactorily. I was manager for a Burger Chef for a year, my chief responsibility being to handle the books. Through this experience, I have learned to handle receipts and disbursements for money, and the importance of the whole financial/ accounting system in the every day running of a business. I was also the treasurer for a high school organization. Through these positions I have learned to work with people and to meet the challenges that have been set before me. I have been able to develop my skills and increase my knowledge of the accounting system. For these reasons, I feel I am qualified to handle the responsibilities of the position of ASG Treasurer.

G.P.A.: 3.01

PLATFORM:

To competently fill the role of Associated Student Government Treasurer the candidate must possess certain characteristics, primarily the accounting ability to keep the books. He or she must also have the influence of an active voice in student government proceedings, exhibit leadership abilities vital for the chairmanship of the finance committee and an aptitude for working well with people as the job entails personal working relationships.

As candidate for this office, I feel that I possess these characteristics. My accounting knowledge, my previous ASG experience and my ability to lead and work with people qualify me for this position. I ask that you would support me as I seek to become your ASG treasurer.

OFFICE: Treasurer
CLASSIFICATION: JUNIOR
MAJOR: Accounting
HOMETOWN: Lemont, IL
G.P.A.: 3.26

PLATFORM:

On the space of this page allotted me I would like to share with you some aspects of my life. The most important aspect is my relationship with Jesus Christ; it is my burning desire to serve God every day. "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Mat. 6:33)

This verse means much to me and has changed my life - seek him first.

A major in Accounting supported with a double minor in Computer Science and Economics qualifies me with the necessary knowledge for the position of ASG Treasurer. I am in the top of the Junior Accounting Class with a GPA for related classes of 3.8 and an overall GPA of 3.26.

Because of my ability in accounting I have privately tutored students in Principles of Accounting and Finite Math. It is my goal upon graduation to seek a career with one of the Big '8' Accounting Firms. I would like to direct my talents in the field of external auditing.

Summer employment was spent as a computer analyst in the engineering department at CPC International in Argo, IL. The job consisted of writing variable lists, flowcharting and documenting programs, making disc copies and updating and modifying programs.

I have completed and excelled in past jobs. I can not only fulfill the expectations of ASG Treasurer, but can perform the service skillfully. Not only do I have the education, responsibility and leadership, I have the desire to do it successfully. It is my prayer that I will be able to serve the student body with my God-given talents. At this time the best way for me to do this is through the position of ASG Treasurer. Thank you for your time and consideration.

PLATFORM:

I am currently the Sophomore Class Secretary. I have worked for two summers as a secretary in a Century 21 Real Estate office. During that time, I gained first-hand experience in professional office procedure. I feel this has given me good experience to assist me in doing a good job as ASG Secretary.

If I were elected as ASG Secretary I would be available as much of the time as possible. This is because I want you, the student body, to be able to get in contact with the people you need to at your convenience. I enjoy working with people and I am looking forward to working much of the student body if I am elected.

PLATFORM:

I feel that alongside the importance of dependability, skills and availability is the importance of interest and devotion to the office of ASG Secretary.

I am very excited about the possibility of being ASG Secretary. I know that I can fulfill the requirements for the job and add more interest to it. My office hours will be as flexible as possible so that I may be of greatest aid to the officers I work under and the students.

It is my intent to provide a positive and friendly atmosphere around the office - as well as outside of the office. Students like a friendly atmosphere and feel more compelled to come into the office and gain interest in what ASG is all about.

I intend to use my enthusiasm and skills to produce quality work for ASG and provide additional ideas and information in student council meetings.

PLATFORM:

The chief purpose of MRA is to provide the men on Olivet's campus opportunities social, personal and spiritual growth.

In the past, MRA's main concern has been the social aspect, but has not been adequately fulfilled. The personal and spiritual areas have been emphasized even less.

I will furnish more social activities, adding to those already available ideas from the survey recently given in chapel.

I also plan on using ideas to provide means for personal and spiritual growth. These would include speakers for seminars, prayer breakfasts and topic discussions.

My qualifications include positions that require personal interaction skills, such as salesman for The Glimmerglass advertising department and for a Michigan advertising firm.

I have also had experience as a

Tom Stoutenborough

NAME: Tom Stoutenborough
OFFICE: MRA President
CLASSIFICATION: Junior
MAJOR: Social Justice
HOMETOWN: Morton, IL
G.P.A.: 3.279

PLATFORM:

The Men's Residence Association for 1982-83 has been going through a revival. I want to magnify that hope of revitalization by my reelection as president. In the past few years MRA ended the school year with a deficit; this year MRA will end with money in the bank. The hard work the MRA members put into the fall pig roast, the spring ping pong and shuffleboard tournament and the assistance on Parent Weekend has paid off. Praise the Lord!

The purpose of MRA is to assist the administration in providing residents of the men's dormitories on campus a quality Christian atmosphere to live in. In keeping with the high standards of our school, MRA should actively pursue a goal to enrich the spiritual, educational and social aspects of the men's residences on campus.

An organization such as MRA has many functions; the planning of the year itself, the administration of talents and time, the delegation of work to the MRA council and the management of income and expenditures to maintain a balanced budget.

With my past experience as a leader in student government I am accomplished and well-qualified to handle any and all responsibilities required of such an office.

There are some areas that I would like to emphasize if I am reelected as MRA President. First, I hope to keep communication open between MRA and WRA. Our goals are very similar and it is vital that time and talent be utilized at its most efficient level.

Secondly, the budget must and will be kept balanced. I believe there are many exciting, creative and different things that can be done to enhance campus life without running up a large bill.

QUALIFICATIONS:

I served as a pharmacy technician in the Navy. In addition to my training as an EMT (emergency medical technician) I took a class at Chapman College in Orange, CA. I was in charge of the student and faculty health records at the Naval School of Health Sciences, San Diego and provided a voluntary tutoring service for students who had difficulty with naval courses.

At Illinois Central College I began to get involved with student government and served on committees for activities such as constitutional rewriting, activity planning and Artist/Lecture Series selection. These committees provided services for a student enrollment of approximately 16,000. I was also chosen to represent the college for Rotary banquet functions. I have further enlarged my student government experience as MRA President at Olivet.

I feel that my experiences in service and leadership in the military service and student government has well prepared me to be next year's MRA President

BSN NURSES

Ready For More Educational Opportunities?

As an Army nurse, you can apply for nurse practitioner or clinical specialty courses, or enroll in graduate degree programs.

If you qualify, you can receive all your tuition, pay, and allowances while attending a civilian university full time.

Army Nursing Specialty Courses are also available. Each is conducted in an Army hospital where you receive actual clinical experience that is combined with theoretical study. These courses teach the most advanced techniques in that specialty.

Currently, Nurse Practitioner courses in pediatrics, OB GYN, and adult medical surgical care are being offered. A midwifery course and anesthesiology program are also available, both leading to Masters Degrees.

Take summer school in England

It could be cheaper for Americans to study in England this summer than to stay at home.

At Middlesex Polytechnic in north London, a five-week summer school program offering credit courses costs just over $500 (£350 sterling). The fee covers all tuition and a private room. Food is extra but can be purchased in the student cafeteria at reasonable prices or prepared for even less by students themselves in communal kitchens.

"The courses on offer are those normally taught during the academic year," explains summer school coordinator Joel Gladstone, an American and MIT graduate with 15 years of teaching in London.

"This is not a program cobbled together for tourists. The majority in each lecture or seminar group will be British students who want to make up missing credits, accelerate their course or add a new subject to their studies."

The summer school offers intensive academic work leading to credit in subjects within the performing arts, literature, history, languages, social science or information technology. Dates are July 25 to August 26.

Details of all courses on offer, along with an application form, are available from the Middlesex Polytechnic Summer School, 114 Chase Side, London N14 5PN, England.

The Polytechnic's Trent Park

campus where the summer school is based is only a half hour's journey by underground train from central London. The campus itself is built around a Georgian mansion in the heart of an idyllic country park. Leisure facilities on the site include a swimming pool, tennis courts, football grounds, a sports hall and well equipped gymnasium. In the adjacent park are nature trails, golf, horseback riding and miles of open countryside for running and walking.

Orpheus presents Spring Concert

This year Orpheus Choir is celebrating its Golden Anniversary of a "Ministry in Music," along with Olivet's Diamond Jubilee. Fall 1932 Orpheus, then Orpheus Chorus, was founded with 17 members. Fifty years later the choir celebrates its anniversary with 73 members.

'part of this celebration is Orpheus' Annual Spring Concert, April 22 at 7:30 p.m. in Kresge Auditorium.

The concert will include "Favorite Tour Selections," the Bach Easter Cantata #4: "Christ Lag in Todesbanden" (sung in English) accompanied by an instrumental ensemble, and some "easy listening" music presented by Orpheus seniors.

Admission is $1.00 for adults and free for children 12 or under.

Members of the Orpheus Choir for spring 1983 are as follows: Scott Apple, Sheryl Bitner, Vickie Bright, Shelly Bryant, Kay Buker,

L.A. announces graduate program

Los Angeles First Church of the Nazarene is announcing its inaugural session of the Graduate Program in Urban Training this coming September. The graduate program, already accredited through Azusa Pacific University, is seeking formal relationship in the next few weeks with Fuller Seminary and Point Loma Nazarene College. These institutions are currently negotiating a variety of Master's degree programs, including the M.A., M.M. (Master), and the M. Div. (Master) and the M. Div. degrees, in which the concentration of urban study courses would be offered at the L.A. Church facility.

In the initial year, at least 6 courses will be taught out of an urban perspective. These courses will range from urban anthropology and urban sociology, to urban theology and cross cultural ministry. A feature of the training will be the direct urban exposure and ministry experiences that should help potential Christian workers to sharpen their skills for urban ministry and create a greater focus of Christian presence within the city environment in the city environment.

Los Angeles, now regarded as the most "internationalized city in the world", is an appropriate place for such a studies program. It ranks in the list of the top dozen urban concentrations in the world and is often looked at as a trend setter of the future. It also is natural that the L.A. First Church should be the setting of this innovative program. The Church was founded by the denominational founder, Dr. Phineas F. Bresee, and still contains many of the records of his vigorous commitment to both the poor and the urban environment.

It is his name that has been given to the wide range of study programs now being offered by the Church. Currently, 65 Spanish-speaking students are taking classes at the Church in a full range of Bible School courses. Late this spring a Korean Bible School will begin. And for the past several summers the Church has received a contingency of interns who, starting this summer, will receive formal undergraduate credit for their involvement in Los Angeles.

All professors under consideration are both academically qualified in their field of specialization and are practitioners within an urban ministry context. Although the faculty represents a strongly Wesleyan slant to their perspectives, they are being looked to by many interdenominational groups as effective leaders in the area of urban ministries.

A Foundation has been created to help raise funds for students who are willing to serve a 9 month stretch as interns. The grant monies that will become available to these interns will pay for tuition, housing and other incidental costs. For college students contemplating entering into this frontier of ministry, the Bresee Institute encourages inquiries. For those interested either in the undergraduate summer program or the full year graduate program correspondence should be directed to:

Parent Weekend 'successful'

By Lois Kranich

Parent Weekend at Olivet Nazarene College took place March 18-20, 1983. Co-sponsored by the Men's and Women's Residence Associations, activities throughout the weekend were centered around the theme "Growing Together." Over 200 families participated.

Friday night the Imperials appeared in concert before a sellout crowd in Chalfant Hall. Dr. Joseph Nielson spoke on the weekend's theme, "Growing Together", to the 181 people who attended the brunch Saturday morning. Music was provided by the Collegians. The brunch was followed by an Open House in the residence halls.

The play Going Around in Academic Circles was featured at various times throughout the weekend. Other Saturday afternoon activities included a planetarium show and mini-concerts by Treble Clef, Viking and Orpheus choirs in Larsen Fine Arts Center.

Janine Tartaglia, former television newscaster for NBC in Los Angeles, was the featured speaker at a banquet in Ludwig Center Saturday evening. Tartaglia's testimony included the story of how she came to know the Lord through her acquaintance with the Rev. Earl Lee family. During the days of the Iranian hostage crisis she had been assigned to cover the Lee family whose faith made a great impact on her life.

Music for the banquet was provided by Concert Singers and by Steve Gould and Cyndi Green. Angela Latham recited Isaiah 43:1-3, Tartaglia's favorite scripture.

A band concert in Larsen Fine Arts Center followed the banquet.

Sunday morning Dr. Leslie Parrott was the guest speaker at a Sunday School Continental Breakfast. Laura Henderson, Joy Lewis, Kelli Lobb and Tina Sunberg provided special music.

The weekend's activities climaxed in the morning worship service at College Church.

Susan Geist, WRA President, feels the weekend was successful. "We are still receiving letters from parents extending their thanks and telling how much they engaged it. The MRA and WRA councils were pleased to be able to make this weekend possible."

Reaganomics taking back seat in econ classrooms

(CPS) College economics departments apparently have given up on supply-side economics. Students may have a hard time finding a class to learn about it from now on.

In contrast to two years ago, when many econ departments were scrambling in the first flushes of Ronald Reagan's victory to find some way to discuss the theory in their classes and squeeze it into late editions of textbooks, the theory is dying out.

These days, the theory's been reduced to "just another alternative" status or eliminated altogether in many classrooms.

"Reaganomics, as a popular idea in the classroom, has pretty much come and gone," says New Mexico State economist Kathleen Brook. "People have become aware that it's not an instant cure-all, that it's just another alternative."

"I'm struggling with how to cover the whole business of Reaganomics in my revision," of Economics: Principles, Problems and Policies, says Campbell McConnell, the book's author and an economics professor at the University of Nebraska.

"You hate to devote much space to something that already looks like a failure," he says.

Likewise, American University professor and author Brad Schiller isn't sure how a special section on supply-side economics in his forthcoming revision of The Economy Today will be received.

"I'm a bit shocked that some books have dropped their chapters on Reaganomics," he says. "I'm including it because I want to give students some perspective on how the theory evolved."

The theory essentially prescribes that the government should stimulate business - the side of economy that supplies goods and services - through tax breaks and deregulation in order to improve the economy.

Since the 1930s, the U.S. government has generally adhered to the theories of British economist John Maynard Keynes, who argued the government could manipulate the economy by stimulating consumer spending and consequently demand for products.

The president, of course, campaigned on the promise of junking Keynesian economics in favor of supply-side economics.

Janine Tartaglia

In his first two proposed federal budgets, President Reagan did ask for dramatic tax cuts in order to stimulate the supply side of the economy. In his third budget, unveiled in early February, the president himself essentially abandoned the theory, asking for some tax increases to help minimize the budget deficit.

Nevertheless, "Reaganomics, to the extent that college professors cover current issues and events, is probably still discussed and debated in college economics courses," contends John Sumansky of the Joint Council on Economics Education in Washington, D.C.

Indeed, the University of Southern California classes of supply-side star economist Arthur Laffer are still "very popular and always full," reports Richard Eastin, chairman of USC's finance department.

But at USC, "we teach primarily Keynesian theory," Eastin adds.

"If Reaganomics had worked it would have made a big difference in how widely it's taught. But I think maybe everyone's expectations were built up a little too much."

Even University of Texas-El Paso supply-side enthusiast Tim Roth spends "only a little class time on Reaganomics."

He attributes the diminishing class time afforded supply-side theory to the personal feelings of faculty members.

"Most professors here, and everywhere for that matter, tend to be skeptical of Reaganomics," he says. "My guess is that among academic economists, most oppose the theory."

He'd get no argument from McConnell. "The track record of Reaganomics so far has been so poor, you're not sure whether it's just a failure, or a dismal failure."

'College Survival Kit' now available

A series of 12 articles dedicated to better reading, writing and communications skills is being offered free to college students by International Paper Company (IP).

Provided as a "College Survival Kit," the collection of articles is from the "Power of the Printed Word Program" developed by IP and written by well-known professional communicators, writers and public personalities.

The kit includes articles on topics ranging from how to write clearly to how to read faster, improve your vocabulary, use a library, make a speech, write with style, enjoy the classics, write a resume, enjoy poetry, spell, write a business letter, and read an annual report.

The "Power of the Printed Word" program has been praised by educational organizations throughout the country. A free kit may be obtained by writing International Paper Company, College Survival Kit, Dept. P., P.O. Box 954, Madison Square Station, New York, NY 10010.

Lobbyists take 'wait and see' attitude

College lobbyists in Washington say they like President Reagan's proposal for a new education tax savings plan, but warily are withholding support for it until they hear the details.

"I think the principle the government is putting forward here is extremely positive," says Bob Aaron, spokesman for the American Council on Education and a leader in the lobbying effort last year that helped defeat the president's proposed financial aid cuts.

But Aaron says much depends on how the principle is put into effect.

The "principle" is something called the Individual Education Account (IEA), which would be similar to the Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Under the plan, parents could put away a certain amount of money - say, $200 - a year toward their kid's college education, and deduct the amount from their total taxable income.

The money stays in the account, earning a high interest, until the dependent starts college. As the money is withdrawn, the parents reportedly would be taxed on the interest earned, but not on the amount they originally deposited.

The tentative plan was leaked to the press two weeks before President Reagan was due to publish his proposed budget, which would include the IEA if Reagan ultimately decides to adopt it.

One college lobbyist labeled it "a trial balloon" to "see if it would be palatable to replace the federal capital contributions to the (National Direct Student Loan program), the State Student Incentive Grant."

Indeed, most of the lobbyists questioned said they'd support the idea only if it wasn't used to replace other forms of federal student aid.

"If the IEA would be a replacement for need-based aid, we would not support it," Aaron says. "If it is a supplement to need-based aid, we would support it."

"Until we really see the the budget package as a whole, we don't know how to react," adds Dennis Martin of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

"If this is being proposed in place of a number of existing funds," observes William Laidlaw of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, "I would not be in favor of it."

Laidlaw also wants to see the plan's details before supporting it. He wanted to know in particular how much the money in the account would be taxed when it is withdrawn.

"If you take a tax bite out of it when you're ready to use it, you would kill it," he asserts.

Details of the plan won't be available for the time being, says Duncan Helmrich, U.S. Dept. of Education spokesman. "Someone round here is working on it, but we don't have anything to release yet."

Even before it's released, the lobbyists' major criticism of the tax savings principle is that it benefits only wealthier families.

The tax break, Martin says,

"works only to the extent that you have a meaningfully large income. You can't save money you don't have."

"A family of four making $12,000 a year is not going to be able to sock away $2000 a year for a college education," Aaron adds. "These (incentives) do not help the intellectually-talented children who are in the ghetto."

Aaron speculates that in 2001 "we will look back on this proposal and find the average family taking advantage of it had an income of $40,000."

It may take that long for the real benefits of the savings plan to appear, Martin adds. "We're talking about a generation from now. It does not speak to the needs of the students now."
